To You,
Boy Choristers,
Dear Unto God,

Who in His Sanctuary early trod,
Whose angel voices sing and soar,
And lead our hearts to love Him more and more.

* * * *

To You, who chant the praise of Jesus King,
Whose reign on earth your innocence will bring,
Who sing of Mary's power and love,
Till spirits long to see her throned above.

To You, of Jesus' Heart the chosen band,
Surpliced adorers, scattered o'er the land,
These Hymns we dedicate, and pray
They lure full many to your heavenly way.

PREFACE

We read in the Life of the Venerable M. B. Champagnat, founder of the Marist Brothers: "Father Champagnat, whose mind was continually occupied with the interests of Religion, considered that it would be contributing largely to the glory of God, to public edification and to the solemnity of the services of the Church, to teach Sacred Music to the school children, and by this means, to prepare singers for the parishes. . . . He proposed, moreover, to attract the children to the school, and attach them to it by the pure and innocent pleasure which singing affords, to keep them happy and cheerful, to make them relish the charms of virtue, to teach them, in a pleasant and attractive manner, the truths of Religion."

Since their foundation (1817), the Brothers have endeavored to realize this desire of their Venerable Superior with the constant experience that the training of children in sacred song is ever productive of these happy results. The better to attain their end, they have published, in different countries, Manuals and Hymnals adapted to Juvenile Choirs.

The "AMERICAN CATHOLIC HYMNAL" is a new endeavor toward the same ideal, an effort to unfold the meaning of the Liturgical Seasons and Feasts of the Ecclesiastical Year, thus giving to the children, as well as to the faithful at large, an insight into the sublimity of Catholic Worship and thereby increasing in their hearts, love for God and His Holy Church. Its appearance seems timely, coming at a moment when so much is done and well done everywhere to respond to the instructions of our Holy Father, Pope Pius X, on Church Music.

This COLLECTION is as varied in character as in source; we have attempted to meet the needs of trained choirs, of congregations singing in unison, of children in school, and of the family at home. But all these Melodies have been either selected or written with a view to promote the reverent and devotional singing prescribed by the "Motu proprio" (Nov. 22, 1903). According to this "Motu proprio," the following are the general guiding principles of the Church: "Sacred Music should possess in the highest degree the qualities proper to the Liturgy or, more precisely, sanctity and purity of form, from which its other character of universality spontaneously springs. It must be holy and must therefore exclude all profanity, not only from itself, but also from the manner in which it is presented by those who execute it. It must be true art, for otherwise it cannot exercise on the minds of the hearers that influence which the Church meditates when she welcomes into her Liturgy the Art of Music. But it must also be universal in the sense that, while every nation is permitted to admit into its ecclesiastical compositions those special forms which may be said to constitute its native music, still these forms must be subordinated in such a manner to the general characteristics of sacred music, that no one of any nation may receive an impression other than good on hearing them."

—Catholic Encyclopedia, Vol. x, page 649.

THE HYMNS IN THIS COLLECTION FORM TWO GENERAL CLASSES:

- 1—Hymns to be sung at the Services and Devotions of Holy Church.
- 2—Hymns for the Schoolroom, for Sodality and Sundayschool classes, etc.

While some of the Airs of the latter category are of a somewhat bright and florid character, it has been borne in mind that the devotional should never give way to the sentimental nor cheerfulness to levity. In every number we have sought to adapt a serious, dignified musical expression, suitable to the sentiments embodied in the words, remembering that the first requisite of a hymn is that "the sentiments contained in the text be given true expression, and be not obscured by obtrusive external forms."

THE GENERAL FEATURES OF THESE MELODIES MAY BE SUMMED UP THUS:

(a) They are in easy style, tuneful and most appropriate for unison singing and congregational rendering.

(b) They are remarkable for their religious, prayerful tone, in perfect harmony with the words expressed. Although many new and original hymns are in this collection, old favorite airs of recognized worth are also included.

(c) Many of the hymns are wholly new, both in music and in verse. Special care has been taken to use words easily understood and retained by young children; for the hymns of the Church are the inheritance of "Little Ones"; and what heart, though bowed down by grief and sin, is not touched by sacred words attuned to sweet music coming forth from their innocent lips? And these hymns will be sung in the home. What a power has sacred song always wielded in the Christian home! Jesus is there listening. Did He not sing hymns with His Apostles and train their rough voices to sweet and refined harmony? Did not Mary chant her sublime "Magnificat" in the precincts of Elizabeth's home? High models for these little voices; and the truth of faith and lessons of piety sung by them will have a new light for the minds and a new charm for the hearts of listening parents and friends.

(d) The Gregorian Numbers are according to the Vatican Edition and in modern notation. The Series of Motets for the Benediction of the Most Holy Sacrament and for special occasions, though varied to suit all tastes will, in general, be found broad and churchly. Some are perfect models of Church Music, i. e., Palestrina's "Bone Jesu"—Perosi's "Tota pulchra es," etc.

In returning thanks for help, the Compilers recognize how wide and deep are their obligations. Whilst we pay a due tribute of admiration to the memory of such well known authors of our popular hymns, as: Fr. Caswall, Fr. Faber, Card. Manning, Dr. Neale, Rev. M. Russell, S. J., etc., we must also render thanks to the Rev. Editors of the Ave Maria, the Messenger of the S. Heart, the Rosary Magazine, the Sentinel of the B. Sacrament for use of poems and translations. To the Rev. H. T. Henry, Litt. D., we are under great obligation for his assistance in placing his valuable book "Eucharistica" at our disposal. Though the language of the Church is the consecrated one for the Liturgical rendering of St. Thomas' memorable stanzas to the Most Blessed Sacrament, Father Henry's almost literal translations will be found very helpful in the classroom to familiarize the children with these great truths and keep alive their devotion.

We desire to express our gratitude also to the Reverend Sister of the Visitation whose valuable contributions will be found in the Hymnal under the pseudonym, M. S. Pine.

VII.

The Hymns for Holy Communion (Before and After) are another feature of the American Catholic Hymnal. Many of these verses which appear here for the first time, are from the talented pen of the late Miss Isabel Williams, of Boston, who now reaps the fruit of her poetic soul-stirring prayers.

Acknowledgment is here made of courtesy of Mr. B. Herder (St. Louis) for leave to use the words of some Hymns from "Psallite," and of Messrs. J. Fisher and Bro. (N. Y.) in granting the use of Nos. 60 and 231.

With respect to the music, we beg, in the first place, to express our gratitude to Mr. Carl Hauser to whom we owe, besides several Congregational hymns, a vast amount of technical assistance for the arrangement of the musical score, and to Rev. J. B. Young, S. J., who so zealously assisted us in editing and arranging this notable work.

We gratefully acknowledge our indebtedness also to the Rt. Rev. Mgr. H. A. Brann, D. D., Rev. W. H. Walsh, S. J., Rev. P. J. Wade, O. C. C., to the Sisters of Notre Dame, Mr. I. Müller, Mr. R. de Dion, Mr. E. Hurley and to Mr. J. Heynen for special hymns bearing their names.

Some Melodies by living French Composers have been made use of, for which we would have asked permission, had we known where to address the Authors.

To them and to others to whom consciously or unconsciously we may be indebted, we render the tribute of our thanks.

If this work helps, even a little, to promote the singing of holy hymns in the School and, by means of the School, in the Church and the Home Circle, then shall our dearest hopes be realized.

PART FIRST.

ADVENT.

Advent is that period of the Liturgical Year, during which the Church requires the faithful to prepare for the celebration of the feast of Christmas, the anniversary of the birth of Jesus Christ.

During that Season, Our Lord knocks at the door of all men's hearts, at one time so forcibly that they must needs notice Him; at another, so softly that it requires attention to know that Jesus is asking admission. He comes to ask them if they have "room for Him," for He wishes to be born in their house. The house indeed is His, for He built it and preserves it; yet He complains that His own refused to receive Him; at least the greater number did.

The expressions of the Liturgy which the Church makes use of to ask for this loving and invisible coming, are these which she employs when begging for the coming of Jesus in Flesh, for the two Visits are for the same object.

In vain would the Son of God have come to visit and save mankind, unless He came again for each one of us, and at every moment of our lives, bringing to us and cherishing within us that supernatural life, of which He and His Holy Spirit are the sole principle.

PART SECOND.

CHRISTMASTIDE.

The Mystery of the Divine Infancy is celebrated and kept in view during the whole forty days of Christmastide.

But our Mother the Church, does not only offer to the Infant God the tribute of her profound Adoration, the Mystery of the Emmanuel, that is, of God with us, is to her a source of singular joy. Look at her sublime Canticles for this holy Season, and you will find the two sentiments admirably blended: her deep reverence for her God, and her glad joy at His Birth. Joy! did not the very Angels come down and urge her to it? She therefore studies to imitate the blithe Shepherds, who ran for joy to Bethlehem, and the glad Magi, who were well-nigh out of themselves with delight, when, on quitting Jerusalem, the Star again appeared and led them to the Cave where the Child was. Joy at Christmas is a Christian instinct which originated those many Carols, which, like so many other beautiful traditions of the Ages of Faith, are unfortunately dying amongst us; but which Rome still encourages, gladly welcoming each year those rude musicians, the Pifferari, who come down the Apennines, and make the streets of the Eternal City re-ëcho with their shrill melodies.

PART THIRD.

LENT and PASSIONTIDE.

The Church made this Season a time of recollection and penance, in preparation for the greatest of her feasts.

On Ash Wednesday, she calls Lent a "Christian Warfare." Yes, in order that we may have the newness of life, which will make us worthy to sing once more our "Alleluia," we must be fellow-combatants with our Jesus and conquer our three enemies, the devil, the flesh and the world. - Therefore, we must have on our armor, and watch unceasingly. - And whereas it is of the utmost importance that our hearts be spirited and brave, the Church gives us a "War-Song" of heaven's own making, which can fire even cowards with hope of victory and confidence in God's help: it is the Ninetieth Psalm Qui habitat?

She there tells us to rely on the protection wherewith our heavenly Father covers us, as "with a shield;" to hope under the shelter of His wings; to have confidence in Him for that He will deliver us from the snare of the hunter who has robbed us of the liberty of the children of God to rely upon the succor of the Holy Angels, etc.

Let us get well into us the sentiments wherewith the Church would have us be inspired. . . Our LENT will give us a clearer view of Him who is our light; and if we could acknowledge Him as our God when we saw Him as the Babe of Bethlehem, our soul's eye will not fail to recognize Him in the divine Penitent of the Desert, or in the bleeding Victim of Calvary.

PART FOURTH.

EASTERTIDE.

Of all the Seasons of all the Liturgical Year, Paschal Time is by far the richest in Mystery. . . Eternity in heaven is the true Pasch: hence, our Pasch, here on earth, is the Feast of feasts.

Easter, with its three admirable manifestations of divine love and power, the Resurrection, the Ascension, and the Descent of the Holy Ghost, is the perfection of the work of our Redemption.

The holy Fathers bid us look on these fifty days of Eastertide as the image of our eternal happiness. . . They are days devoted exclusively to joy; every sort of sadness is forbidden; and the Church cannot speak to her divine Spouse without joining to her words the glorious cry of heaven; the "Allelúia" wherewith, as the holy Liturgy says, the streets and squares of the heavenly Jerusalem resound without ceasing. . . We have been forbidden the use of this joyous word during the past nine weeks; it behoved us to die with Christ; but now that we are resolved to die no more that death which kills the soul, and caused our Redeemer to die on the Cross we have a right to our "Allelúia."

Be of good heart, Christians! you must look forward to another Easter. Each year will give you a repetition of what you now enjoy. Easter will follow Easter, and bring you at last to that Easter in heaven, which is never to have an end, and of which these happy ones on earth are a mere foretaste. (From "The Liturgical Year" by Abbot Guéranger, O. S. B.)

PART FIFTH.

THE TIME AFTER PENTECOST.

The Sacred Liturgy is about to put before us an unbroken succession of varied episodes, of which some are brilliant with glory, and others exquisite in loveliness, but each one of them bringing its special tribute towards either the development of the dogmas of faith or the furtherance of the Christian life... It was but right that the solemnity which is intended to honor the mystery of One God in Three Persons, should immediately follow that of Pentecost, with which it has a mysterious connection.

Every homage paid to God by the Church's Liturgy has the Holy Trinity as its object. Time, as well as eternity, belongs to the Trinity. The Trinity is the scope of all Religion. Every day, every hour, belongs to It. The Feasts instituted in memory of the mysteries of our Redemption centre in It. The Feasts of the Blessed Virgin and the saints are so many means for leading us to the praise of the God who is One in essence, and Three in Persons. The Sunday's Office, in a very special way, gives us, each week, a most explicit expression of adoration and worship of this mystery, which is the foundation of all others and the source of all grace.

The hymn of Thy Seraphim, O Lord, has been heard here on earth: Holy, Holy, Holy the Lord God of hosts! (Is. VI. 3.) We are but mortals; we are not Prophets, as was Isaias; and yet we have a happiness which he had not; we can repeat the song of those blessed Spirits, with fulness of knowledge, and can say unto Thee, "Holy is the Father, Holy is the Son, Holy is the Spirit!"

From "The Liturgical Year," by Abbot Guéranger, O. S. B.

PART SIXTH.

FEAST OF CORPUS CHRISTI.

THE BLESSED SACRAMENT.

A great solemnity has risen upon our earth; a Feast both to God and men; for it is the Feast of Christ the Mediator, who is present in the Sacred Host, that God may be given to man, and man to God. Divine union—yes, such is the dignity to which man is permitted to aspire; and, to this aspiration, God has responded, even here below, by an invention which is all of heaven. It is to-day that man celebrates this marvel of God's goodness.

The Office for the Feast of Corpus Christi, which was composed by St. Thomas of Aquin, is one of exceptional beauty... The magnificence of these Hymns, and Psalms, and Antiphons, and Responsories, all of which are teeming with genuine Catholic Spirit,—will furnish the Faithful with the best materials for contemplation, whereby to enlighten their minds and inflame their hearts, during the whole Octave. They will be eager to adore that beautiful King of glory, who is going to hold his court in the midst of His people, with no other veil between Himself and them, than the light cloud of the sacramental species... Let the Faithful prefer to take wherewith to give utterance to their sentiments, the formulas which the Church herself uses, when singing to her Spouse, in the Sacred Banquet of His love: not only will they there find poetry, doctrine and gracefulness of diction, but they will soon learn, by experience, that, like the divine food itself, those approved and sanctified formulas suit every soul; for these formulas of the Church adapt themselves to the several dispositions and degrees of spiritual advancement, and thus becomes to each one of her children, the fittest and warmest expression of every want and desire.

PART SEVENTH.

COMMUNION.

The thirsting of man after God, the strong, the living God, that hungering for the feast of divine union are not empty ravings. Made partaker of the divine nature, as St Peter so strongly words the mystery, is it to be wondered at, if man be conscious of it, and lets himself be drawn, by the uncreated flame, into the very central Fire it came from to him? The Holy Spirit, too, is present in his creature, and is witness of what himself has produced there; he joins his own testimonies to that of our own conscience, and tells our spirit that we are truly, what we feel ourselves to be, ... the sons of God. It is the same Holy Spirit who, at one time opens to our soul's eye, by some sudden flash of light, the future glory that awaits us, and then inspires us with a sentiment of anticipated triumph; and then, at another time, he breathes into us those unspeakable moanings, those songs of the exile, whose voice is choked with the hot tears of love, for that his union with his God seems so long deferred. There are, too, certain delicious hymns, which coming from the very depths of souls wounded with divine love, make their way up to the throne of God; and the music is so sweet to him, that it almost looks as though it had been victorious, and had won the union! Such music of such souls does really win; if not the eternal union, ... for that could not be during this life of pilgrimage, and trial, and tears, ... still it wins wonderful unions here below, which human language has not the power to describe.

So the Christian dogma summeth
That the bread His Flesh becometh,
And the wine His Sacred Blood:
Though we feel it not nor see it,
Living Faith that doth decree it,
All defects of sense makes good.

4.

Lo! beneath the species dual
Signs not things, is hid a jewel
Far beyond creation's reach!
Though His Flesh as food abideth,
And His Blood as drink He hideth,
Undivided under each.

5.

Good and bad, they come to greet Him:
Unto life the former eat Him,
And the latter unto death;
These find Death and those find Heaven;
See, from the same life-seed given,
How the harvest differeth!

PART EIGHTH.

THE MOST SACRED HEART OF JESUS.

To this material world, which the soul of man was intended to make subserve its Maker's glory,—to this world, which, by a sad perversion, kept man's soul a slave to his senses and passions,... the Holy Ghost sent a marvelous power, which, like a resistless lever, would replace the world in its right position; it was the Sacred Heart of Jesus; a Heart of flesh, like that of other human beings, from whose created throbbings there would ascend to the eternal Father an expression of love, which would be a homage infinitely pleasing to the infinite Majesty, because there was in that love of that human Heart the dignity of its union with the Word. It is a harp of sweetest melody, that is ever vibrating under the touch of the Spirit of Love; it gathers up into its own music, the music of all creation, whose imperfections it corrects, and supplies its deficiencies, and tunes all discordant voices into unity, and so offers to the glorious Trinity a hymn of perfect praise. The Trinity finds its delight in this Heart. It is the only organum as Saint Gertrude calls it, the one only instrument which finds acceptance with the Most High. Through it, must pass all the inflamed praises of the burning Seraphim, just as must do the humble homage paid to God by inanimate creation. By it alone are to come upon this world the favors of Heaven. It is the mystic ladder between man and God, the channel of all graces; the way whereby man ascends to God, and God descends to man.

PART NINTH.

ALL SAINTS.

They that have gone before us, wept as they turned the furrows and cast in the seed; but now their triumphant joy overflows upon us as an anticipated glory in this valley of tears. Without waiting for the dawn of eternity, the present Solemnity gives us to enter by hope into the land of light, whither our fathers have followed Jesus the divine Forerunner. Do not the thorns of suffering lose their sharpness, at the sight of the eternal joys into which they are to blossom? Does not the happiness of the dear departed cause a heavenly sweetness to mingle with our sorrow? Let us hearken to the chants of deliverance, sung by those for whom we weep, little and great; this is the feast of them all, as it will one day be ours. At this season, when cold and darkness prevail, nature herself, stripping off her last adornments, seems to be preparing the world for the passage of the human race into the heavenly country. Let us, then, sing with the Psalmist "I rejoiced at the things that were said to me: We shall go into the house of the Lord."

Truly this day is grand and beautiful. Earth, midway between heaven and purgatory, has united them together. The wonderful mystery of the Communion of saints is revealed in all its fullness. The immense family of the Sons of God is shown to be one in love, while distinct in its three states of beatitude, trial, and purifying expiation: the trial and expiation being but temporary, the beatitude eternal. It is the fitting completion of the teaching given us through the entire year... Meanwhile, every soul is recollected, pondering over the dearest and noblest memories... It is the feast of our beloved dead.

PART TENTH.

OUR BLESSED LADY.

SAINT JOSEPH-HOLY ANGELS.

SPECIAL PATRON SAINTS.

In the whole Christian world and in the Church of God, there has ever gone up from the hearts and lips of priest and people Mary's praise and Mary's glory. The children of her love and her pain have never ceased and will never cease their hymns and songs in memory of her triumphs and her victories over sin in the hearts of men. Elizabeth, in her salutation, had struck the keynote of all Mary's greatness: "Whence is this to me that the Mother of my Lord should come to me?"

Upon many women in the history of the world, have great favors and great honors been bestowed. Men have vied with one another in their efforts to praise and glorify them. Naught that eye could see, tongue ask, or imagination conceive has been denied them. The earth's jewels have been laid at their feet, the sea has given up its corals, and the mountains their precious stones, sparkling crowns have been put upon their brows and gemmed sceptres in their hands, but there is no gift in the power of man or of God Himself to bestow, like that implied in the words of Elizabeth: "Whence is this to me that the Mother of my Lord should come to me?"

Mary's Divine Motherhood is the crown of all her spiritual jewels, the keystone of the arch of all her greatness. To deck our Queen with a brighter gem or higher honor, God would have to make her mother of one greater than Himself, the Infinite, the Eternal. . . .

And now this exalted Mother speaks to us as we kneel adoring her Son. We hear the sweet music of the voice that spoke to Jesus during His up-growing years; the voice which softly lulled Him to sleep in His sand-cradle, and mingled with the winds which blew over the desert; the voice which whispered to Him during the all too short years in Nazareth; the voice which spoke such words of comfort to Him from the foot of the Cross as He hung bleeding His life away. That voice was sweeter to Jesus' ears than the chants which angels hierarchies send re-echoing from vault to vault of the new Jerusalem.

And now we are to hear that voice. . . . Seldom has that blessed Mother spoken, but now she will open her lips in a hymn of praise, the words of which shall never die, but shall go ringing down the ages bringing strength and light and peace to the minds and hearts of Christian people. Mary speaks and can we wonder that from her lips fall the words: "My soul doth magnify the Lord, and my spirit, hath rejoiced in God, my Saviour; because He has regarded the humility of His handmaid; for behold, from henceforth all generations shall call me blessed?"

Let us join in her song of praise and offer it to her Son upon our altars, in fulfilment of our long due debt of thanks for all His favors, as a pledge of our more active gratitude in future, as a solace to His Sacred Heart and worthy reparation of Its wrongs.

 See the Mother racked with anguish,
 At the sight of her first-born.

 Where Jesus soon will be.

W. RHYS-HERBERT.

Joyfully.

1. Hail, Cross divine! thy vic-tories we sing, For thee our mar-tyrs brave and faith-ful died; To thee in weal and woe we fond-ly cling, — Sym-bol of faith in Je-sus cru-ci-fied. Hail, Cross of Christ! though un-believers spurn, Our ar-dor glows in meas-ure of their hate: With love for thee our hearts for-ev-er burn; Nor scoff, nor blows our ar-dor can a-bate.

2.

3.

Hail, starry flag! by saintly Carrol blessed!	Thy stripes ne'er fall save on the jealous foe,
Unfurled in freedom o'er our hills and plains;	Who dares impede the course of tranquil toil,
To shelter those in other lands oppressed,	Or rebel son who with internal woe
Who, refuge seek from bondage and from chains.	And blood-shed desolates the fertile soil.
Shine brilliant stars, in beauty ever shine!	When Cross and flag united on us call,
To show the road of truth, of peace and love;	A band of patriots rallied let us stand;
These three in union with the Cross, combine	For Cross and flag together fight or fall,
To lead Columbia to the realms above.	The free-born sons of Christ and Fatherland.

LATIN HYMNS AND CHANTS.

MOTETS FOR BENEDICTION.

LITANIES.

GREGORIAN MASSES.

VESPER PSALMS etc.

In order that doubts may not arise as to the use of the various signs to denote Gregorian rhythm, attention is drawn to the following:

1. In dissyllables, the accent is always on the first syllables. In words of more than two syllable the accent is marked by the sign (') placed upon the syllable to be pronounced with stress.
2. In syllabic passages (with one note to each syllable,) the correct pronunciation of the text suffices.
3. In melismatic passages (prolonged by melodic ornamentation,) each note commencing the small groups of notes is to be somewhat strengthened, but these groups should be bound together as indicated by the slurs, so as to produce a beautiful legato.
4. The notes provided with a quilisma (~~) are to be lightly taken and should be introduced by a slight prolongation of the preceding note or notes.
5. The pressus (<) is to be firmly attacked.
6. The small notes (♪ ♪), representing liquescent tones) should be treated simply as quavers.

CONCLUDING

HYMN.

THE MARIST'S HYMN TO MARY.

B.M.

(Ever, Forever, I Will Sing To Mary.)

B.M.J.

Moderato religioso

1. Ev - er for - ev - er, I will sing to Ma - ry,
2. Ev - er for - ev - er, Mod - es - ty shall guide me,

Who, in her love, bids me come to her breast;
Dear - est a life that is hid and un - known;

Ev - er, for - ev - er, Moth - er dear - ly cher - ished,
Ev - er, for - ev - er, I will hon - or Ma - ry,

List to my love which sings thy name so blest;
Lov - ing her sweet sim - pli - ci - ty a - lone.

Wak - ing from sleep, I call up - on my Moth - er,
Trod - den by all as is the dust be - neath them,

mf

Thy Name shall charm my spir - it all the day,
 Sub - ject to all, a - bas - ing me through love;

And when Night's An - gel soft shall close my eye - lids,
 May I for God and for my ten - der Moth - er, rall.

Slumb' ring, O Ma - ry, my love I will say.
 Spurn self and seek on - ly things from a - bove.

3.
 Ever, forever, Virtue dear to Mary,
 Virtue all lovely, as white as her heart,
 Ever, forever, to my cherished Mother,
 Lily so fragile, I will set apart.
 Guard thou thyself in all its early freshness,
 Queen of the Heavens, this flower of thy love;
 Over thy House, in mercy, O my Mother!
 Watch that we be like the Angels above.

4.
 Ever, forever, Virtue rich and fruitful,
 Queen of our hearts, thou, Obedience, shalt be!
 Ever, forever, o'er the world's far limits,
 Thy steps we tread, and vict'ry shall we see.
 Lead thou our feet to Calvary's thorny summit;
 Guide us to Thabor, mount of love and light;
 Call us o'er ocean, earth, or unto Heaven,
 Follow we, knowing thou ledest aright!

5.
 Ever, forever, seek we that poor dwelling,
 Where our sweet Mōther the Saviour conceived;
 Ever, forever, far from pomp and peril,
 Never shall we by honors be deceived.
 Calm in the hours, when God shall send affliction,
 All, poor in heart, of thy dear love possessed,
 Dead to desire, upon thy breast, sweet Mother!
 Thy happy sons shall in peace ever rest.
